OPENING WORDS

FROM OUR GENERAL MANAGER

Welcome to financial year 2022-23. We have a new government in place, interest rates are on the rise and the inflation rate is soaring. Just try buying a lettuce right now! But transport and freight are still strong overall and supply chains, dare I say it, are showing small signs of slowly recovering.

Our theme for July/August offers a strong trailer focus and more specifically on tipper & dog trailers. These truck and trailer combinations are the dominant weapon of choice when it comes to moving gravel, grain, sand and soil. They work hard helping us build roads, homes, factories as well as carting various grain yields all over the country.

With all that hard work it is just as important to ensure that these trailers are receiving regular servicing and maintenance just like the truck does. We have a couple of feature articles worth a read. The first article, 'The Fifth Dimension' talks about 5th wheels from a safety and maintenance perspective while the second article, 'Who let the dogs out?', offers a really insightful look into good tipper and dog trailer maintenance practices. Matt Neilson, Truck Parts Manager for the Barry Maney Group in Mount Gambier, provides an excellent overview of the key areas to focus on.

As always, there are also plenty of hot PACCAR Privileges offers to take advantage of. So jump online or visit one of our 59 dealer locations right across the country. You will be surprised with the huge range of trailer parts they have available, just ask one of the team at the Parts counter.

We are here to help you keep not just your truck but all your trailers in first class working order so you can keep the wheels of this great country turning. Safe travels.

CLEANING | TREAT YOUR TRAILER | BIG SAVINGS FOR YOUR TRAILER, TIPPER & DOG!

The Fifth Dimension

Safety, stability, improved turning radius and ease of coupling and uncoupling are among the many benefits of a truck's fifth wheel, but this vital component requires regular maintenance to continue operating safely and effectively.

There aren't many components on a modern truck that can trace their lineage back to horse-drawn carriages of the mid-1850s, but that's the case with the fifth wheel, which was adapted for motor vehicles in the early 1900s.

These days it's near impossible to imagine life without the ease of coupling and uncoupling, not to mention the stability and manoeuvrability afforded by this device. But as handy and ingenious as the fifth wheel is, it is not a set and forget component. Far from it, because the fifth wheel is the key point of contact between your rig and trailer, so bears the brunt of the loads you haul, day in and day out.

For this reason, regular and thorough fifth wheel maintenance is essential, to avoid annoying and costly hitching problems, or worse still the nightmare scenario of a trailer disconnecting and becoming a potentially lethal object. Performing basic regular maintenance will help ensure your truck's fifth wheel remains in good and serviceable condition, and that your fleet continues to run at optimal efficiency.

Fifth Wheel Maintenance Best Practice

To find out best practices when it comes to fifth wheel maintenance, we have approached one of the biggest manufacturers, SAF-Holland, for some tips on how to look after your fifth wheel.

In the case of SAF-Holland fifth wheels, it is recommended that maintenance is performed every three months or 50,000km, whichever comes first. The first step in any maintenance procedure is to thoroughly steam clean all components to remove as much of the old dirt, grease and debris as possible.

Once the fifth wheel has been cleaned up, inspect the mounting and assembly. Check the fastener torque and look for any bent, worn, broken or missing bolts and other parts. Replace any missing or damaged bolts using genuine SAF-Holland parts available from your nearest PACCAR Dealer, or visit paccarparts.com.au.

Check the operation of the locking mechanism by opening and closing the locks with an SAF-Holland Kingpin Lock Tester. Ensure that the nut and washer fit snug against the fifth wheel and that the mechanism locks completely closed around the kingpin.

Importance of Lubrication

Once that's done, use a water-resistant lithium-base grease to grease the trailer contact surface and the bracket supports, as well as the grease nipple for the locks. Remember to also lubricate the cam track and pivot with a light oil or diesel oil. On sliding fifth wheels, spray a light oil or diesel oil on the rack and slide path.

The next step is to check your fifth wheel slide adjustments. To do this, first position the truck and trailer in a straight line on level ground, then lock the trailer brakes. Release the slide locking plungers, either via the air operated switch in the cab, or the manual release lever on the fifth wheel. Visually check that both plungers are fully extended. If the plungers do not release, raise the trailer to relieve pressure on the plungers. This will allow the fifth wheel to slide more easily. Slowly drive the truck forward or backward to position the fifth wheel. Re-engage the slide locking plungers and verify that both plungers have fully engaged.

Remember to avoid using any fifth wheel that is not operating properly. If there is a problem with any aspect of your fifth wheel, contact your nearest PACCAR Dealer for advice.

As chain of responsibility laws bring heightened focus on quality components and maintenance schedules, it is imperative that fifth wheel maintenance is carried out regularly on your truck and trailer fleet.

The PACCAR Part Dealer network are experts in trailer maintenance, and many are accredited through quality suppliers like SAF-Holland. For more information or to discuss your trailer and fifth wheel maintenance requirements, contact your local PACCAR Dealer, or visit paccarparts.com.au

Who let the dogs out?

Owners and operators of tipper and dog trailers working in the construction industry know how hard their rigs work and that hard-working gear needs proper scheduled maintenance to remain in safe and efficient working order.

One of the key advantages of the PACCAR Parts network is its extensive national dealership footprint and the ability to supply parts from the front bumper all the way down to the trailer tail light. That's the view of Matt Neilson, Truck Parts Manager for the Barry Maney Group in Mount Gambier, which has been keeping owner-operators mobile since 1977.

"PACCAR Parts dealerships and TRP stores are really a one-stop shop for all things tipper and dog trailer related, providing original equipment parts or quality TRP alternatives depending on the user's requirements," said Matt.

"When talking tipper dogs there are obviously a lot of parts to consider, from simple things like the tow-eye bush to more complex parts like hydraulic power take-off. But no matter how large or small, simple or complex, they're all critical parts that need proper maintenance."

Let's Talk Maintenance

Matt suggests chatting to the specialists at any one of the 48 PACCAR Parts Dealerships or 11 dedicated TRP Stores Australia-wide for information and assistance on maintenance tips and techniques. When considering trailer maintenance essentials, he recommends regular inspections for tow-coupling wear and tear, plus suspension and brake component condition checks.

"When you drill down into each of these areas the list quickly becomes much more comprehensive, covering turntables, tow hitches, tow eyes, and draw bar bushes, as well as suspension components, airlines, air bags, shock absorbers, and pivot bushes. You also need to consider axle components, including oil seals, wheel bearings and hub caps, plus brake parts, brake shoes, brake drums, slack adjusters, and brake boosters, as well as hydraulic couplings, air actuators, roller tarps and more."

Matt Neilson
Truck Parts Manager
BMG Mount Gambier

Suspension Systems

Matt says there are two types of trailer suspension, the old rocker/spring suspension and more modern airbag suspension. The spring suspension is one of the more popular setups and by design requires a minimal amount of maintenance. However, like any suspension used in 'over the road' operations, it requires periodic checks to ensure trouble-free performance.

"We recommend a six month or 200,000km inspection that includes checking U-Bolt nuts, equaliser nuts, torque arm bolts and torque arm clamp nuts to ensure they're all tightened to the correct torque settings. Remember that to ensure an accurate torque reading, the torque tool itself must be properly calibrated. We also recommend checking the fit of the hangers and equalisers to ensure continued good ride characteristics."

"Suspension alignment and torque settings should also be checked outside of scheduled maintenance periods if you discover any loose suspension fasteners or elongated holes in the suspension components. Likewise, when bushings are replaced, or if you notice excessive or abnormal tyre wear.”

Another popular tipper and dog trailer setup is the air suspension system, says Matt.

“When it comes to air suspension systems, we recommend checking the torque settings for all fasteners and inspecting for visual damage and wear every 25,000km or quarterly, and repairing and replacing any parts as necessary. Over and above that, we recommend a more comprehensive inspection every 100,000km or annually, which includes checking fastener torque settings and inspecting for visual damage and wear, checking all suspension bushings for wear and deterioration, and replacing or repairing as necessary.”

The 100,000km service also includes checks of leaf springs and U-bolts for wear and deterioration, visual inspection of the suspension, and repairing or replacing any worn or damaged parts, says Matt.

Importance of Axle Alignment

“We also recommend checking the axle alignment and readjusting as necessary. That’s especially important after there’s been severe kerb contact or other accidental damage, or if the trailing leaf spring pivot bush is replaced.”

Matt notes that the maintenance schedules mentioned are the minimum recommended service requirements for trailer axles, and more frequent service and maintenance schedules could be required depending on operating conditions.

“These suspension systems are generally designed for operating on clean paved roads, so while use on graded or gravel roads is acceptable, for equipment that is regularly used off-road or off-highway we recommend halving the service intervals. In severe operating conditions, weekly and even daily inspections may be required to ensure safe and correct operation of the suspension and axle combination.”

Remember the Basics

“While there’s a lot to consider when talking tipper and dog trailer maintenance, one thing that’s pretty much universal is that, like us, trucks and trailers enjoy a good feed. When I’m talking feeding a truck or trailer, I mean grease, and plenty of it.”

“Greasing any piece of machinery and especially the stuff we’re looking at with tippers and dog trailers, will not only make the components work better it will also enhance longevity and reduce wear and tear.”

“Some people baulk at regular maintenance because of the cost, but the fact is that it saves money in the long run by limiting downtime, improving wear and tear on gear including tyres, and improves the overall performance and longevity of your equipment.”

PACCAR Parts stock parts for all makes and models of trailer suspension and axle, including popular brands like BPW, SAF-HOLLAND, FUWA K-HITCH, HENDRICKSON, MERITOR, YORK, JOST and a wide range of TRP alternatives.

BRAKING | TREAT YOUR TRAILER | BIG SAVINGS FOR YOUR TRAILER, TIPPER & DOG!

WHAT SHOE IS RIGHT FOR YOU?

There are several different factors that need to be taken into consideration when choosing the right brake lining for your truck or trailer. All brake linings are designed to exceed maximum load limits in Australia so axle ratings, whilst important, don't play a large role in determining the right lining.

Consideration, however, must be given to load, road type, braking frequency, maintenance practices, and driver habits when determining the right lining type. What is right for one application may not be suited to another.

FACTORS	21,000 GAWR LININGS	23,000 GAWR LININGS
Road Type	On-highway truck & trailer	On-off highway, steep grades, worksites, city roads
Load Type	General cargo, produce	Liquids, gases, mining, logging, refuse, construction
Braking Frequency	Low, mostly interstate, moderate, mix of interstate & urban	Moderate to high, any environment
Maintenance Habits	Regular maintenance & services, maintenance as needed	Poor, intermediate service, brakes serviced when problem appears
Driver Habits	Gentle to average	Average to aggressive

For more information about which brake shoe might be suitable for your application, visit <https://trpparts.com.au/brake-shoe-guide> or speak to your local PACCAR Parts dealer or TRP store.
