All data is based on engineering test results and may vary due to conditions such as weather, road surface, battery level, load, and tyre specifications.
The quoted range refers to the ZEEKR 7X with a ternary (NCM) lithium battery pack, and the 0-100 km/h time of 3.8 seconds applies to the AWD Performance variant.
Charging data reflects the fastest time achieved using the second-generation Golden Brick battery with a V3 liquid-cooled supercharger at room temperature.
Configurations may vary across different variants — please refer to the specification sheet for details. Final delivered product may differ from the materials shown.

Note with *:

- " - " denotes standard equipment; "-" denotes absence of the featur; "O" denotes optional equipment (under optional package with additional charge).
- EV range/Acceleration etc. data is based on engineering measurement, which may vary under different testing factors such as site, weather, road conditions, battery level, and payload. It is for reference only.
- DC actual charging speed depends on various factors, e.g. charging station output power, electricity grid workload, ambient temperature etc.; 800V DC charging capability indicates maxium capability.
- Active drive system is only as a driving assistance system. It cannot handle all traffic, weather, and road conditions, and cannot replace the driver's control of the vehicle. The driver must always remain attentive, carefully observe the surrounding conditions, and intervene actively when necessary. Please use the relevant functions cautiously in complex traffic situations, adverse weather, special road conditions, etc.
- Seat material denotes application of major touch surface between seat & passengers.
- Brook blue with silver roof body colour is not available for RWD.
- Zeekr will continuously modify and improve its products, and there may be corresponding changes in vehicle equipment, parameters, and supply chain. We will strive to ensure the completeness and accuracy of information; however, due to factors such as uncertainty in screen or paper material, continuous changes in laws and regulations, different interpretations of information by individuals, and potential delays in information updates, there may be discrepancies between the actual vehicle and the provided information. Please refer to the actual vehicle as the final basis.
