North Queensland Games

The 2018 Mackay City Auto Group North Queensland Games was held in Mackay over Labour Day weekend.

The event was kicked off with an Opening Ceremony at Harrup Park on Friday 4 May 2018 – with the athletes parade, welcomes and speeches from dignitaries and the lighting of the caldron by ambassador Renae Knust, followed by fireworks and music by Mango Junction.

Over the next three days, over 3,000 competitors battled it out in their chosen sports, and with over 30 sports on offer, there was a lot of opportunity to represent.

The games ambassador, Renae Knust, captain of the Australian Jillaroos Rugby League World Cup Winning Team in 2017, other champion athletes from Mackay including Linda Mackenzie and Tracey Belbin, counsellors, sponsors and the North Queensland Sports Foundation members, worked to attend and present medals at as many of the sporting events as possible, and with each new venue there was much friendly rivalry to be seen. There was even a Australian Record broken by Weightlifter Tyron Senituli in three disciplines of weightlifting held in Proserpine.

The 2018 Mackay City Auto Group North Queensland Games was then wrapped up on Monday 7th May 2018 with a closing ceremony, acknowledging and thanking all the chosen sports venues and sponsors for their participation in the event.

The games were very well run by the North Queensland Sports Foundation and Mackay Regional Council members, and Townsville have some big shoes to follow in two years time!

The games was a major community initiative for Mackay City Auto Group, and we are proud to have been able to support the North Queensland Games.

Say hello to the Sportage

The Kia Sportage brings a modern, progressive design approach to the medium SUV segment. Underneath the stunning styling, you'll discover an all-new platform and handling package that's tuned in Australia, by Australian engineers. Inside, a completely redesigned cabin, choice of petrol or diesel engines across the range and Kia's latest technologies can be found.

Style has always been second nature to the Sportage. Taut, strong body crease define the front and side surfaces of the vehicle. Its heightened belt-line lends to a dynamic always on-the-go stance, even when sitting still.

We all want to stand out and be seen as different from the crowd. With its sleek, bold lines and sporty panache, the revolutionary Sportage is an SUV you can be more than proud to drive.

Once inside the cabin of the Kia Sportage, you'll be greeted with the design, quality and style you've come to expect from Kia. A soft touch dashboard trim, large 7.0" LCD screen and purposeful Sportage spaces feature on all models. There's even an option for grey two-tone interior trim on GT-Line grade, which further adds to the aura of sophistication.

Extensive use of Advanced High Strength Steel (AHSS) combined with an extremely well-reinforced chassis design and the trusted hot-stamping process has given birth to the safest and quietest Sportage to date.

Tough comes from within

The Volkswagen Amarok. Attractive, isn't she? But let's face it, appearances don't count for much when it comes to a work ute. That's why we've made sure that tough isn't an optional extra. With the Amarok, tough comes from within.

Take away the stylish grille, the shiny panels and the chrome badge, and you'll find the German engineering that puts the Amarok in a class of its own. The Amarok doesn't just have a lot of character on the outside, there's plenty of personality under the bonnet too. And it all comes together to make a ute that's built to conquer the road – on and off.

The Selectable 4x4 all-wheel drive on manual models distributes 50% of the engine output between the front and rear axles to ensure reliable traction on challenging terrain. With Permanent 4x4, which is standard on 4x4 automatic models, power is generally distributed between the front and rear axles 40:60. When driving on loose surfaces the Torsen differential automatically distributes power to driven wheels with the most traction.

With the widest load tray in its class, the Amarok is built for the heavy lifting. The whopping 1222mm between the wheel arches makes it the only dual-cab ute in Australia that can accommodate a full-size pallet, and the fact that the tough tailgate can cope with loads up to 200kg, proves the Amarok will take the brunt of the most extreme workloads.

With its striking proportions, the Tiguan exudes a powerful presence, wherever it appears. The upright front end, prominent wheel arches and distinctive sill elements underline the masculine SUV styling. Attractive design details complete the stylish look – and make an impression time after time.

The Tiguan wouldn't be a Volkswagen if it didn't convey a sense of refined comfort with every touch. The dashboard itself is the epitome of clean and functional design, with everything the driver needs readily at hand.

The importance of regular wheel alignments

It is recommended that your vehicle has a wheel alignment completed every time you have your vehicle serviced.

It becomes more important to have a wheel alignment done if the steering wheel is off centre, tyres are wearing unevenly, you have hit large potholes or kerbs or you find your vehicle is pulling to one side.

The aim of a wheel alignment is to set the car's steering and suspension to ensure maximum tyre contact with the road under real life driving conditions, obtain maximum tyre life and to ensure your vehicle stays straight on the road without constant adjusting of the steering wheel.

Risks involved with not having regular wheel alignments include excessive or uneven tyre wear, compromised handling, reduction in directional stability, increased fuel use and reduced safety.

To ensure maximum tyre life, the wheel alignment should also be reset after steering or suspension repairs and when tyres are replaced.

See below for our super Wheel Alignment Special for the months of May and June 2018.
